The examination of the urine sediment is an essential part of the assessment in nephrology. To be able to do this, one needs not only the right method, but also background knowledge of the patient and a good knowledge of nephrology. This course therefore includes the theory of the method of urine collection and examination, but at the same time discusses the most common clinical nephrological diseases. Each theoretical unit is followed by a practical unit in which the examination of the urine sediment is first discussed individually and then in the group by video-microscopy with the expert Dr. Fogazzi.
